I cope very well in quarantine, because I'm an introvert who would rather spend much of his time at home. Most of the things I like doing involve working with the computer:

Quarantine: IT'S THE ONLY WAY. For now, we're managing to keep the worst of the virus confined in the North. We're waiting to see if the South is just a couple of weeks in delay, but we hope not.

There are extroverts and introverts. I am an introvert as are most in my country here. I and most others I know here are completely fine. Like someone said in past wars our grand parents fought in snow, rain, mud, hot and cold temperatures to win. We just have to sit on the couch to win this.
